Dublin and Cities Electoral Area Boundary Committee Report 2008

Minister

You appointed us on 8 January 2008 to review the arrangement of local electoral areas in the cities of Cork, Dublin, Galway, Limerick and Waterford, and in the counties of Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown, Fingal and South Dublin in accordance with the terms of reference which you prescribed for this task.

On behalf of the Committee, I am pleased to submit to you a completed report of our recommendations in this matter.

Niall Callan

Chairman

Dublin and Cities Electoral Area Boundary Committee

16 June 2008

The Committee	The Dublin and Cities Electoral Area Boundary Committee, established by the Minister for the Environment, Heritage and Local Government
Electoral divisions	These are the smallest administrative areas for which population statistics are published. There are 3,440 electoral divisions in the State. Electoral divisions are referred to by their established statutory names. In some cases, these names differ from addresses and place-names currently used.
Local electoral areas or electoral areas	Under local government legislation, the Minister for the Environment, Heritage and Local Government is responsible for dividing each county and city and certain boroughs and towns into local electoral areas (sometimes referred to as electoral areas) for the purposes of local elections. Generally, a number of electoral divisions are grouped to form an electoral area.
Report of the Constituency Commission	The Report on Dáil and European Parliament Constituencies 2007, prepared by the Constituency Commission (Prn A7/1347)
